

Please vote no on 2 June to relaxing the regulations that limit ownership of media enterprises. The airwaves are owned by the people of America while the primary object of conglomerate owners is profit without regard to the public interest. Allowing conglomerate business interests to control the content of media programming removes liberty and freedom from the American people. The further consolidation of media enterprises is a threat to U.S. national security. Our citizens' freedom depends on airwaves not being dominated by conglomerate business interests. Such domination is unAmerican and in violation of the public mandate of the FCC.
